A Position Will Be Secured for You just as soon as you become proficient enough to pass our "Examinations for Positions." (You can not get your recommendation unless you come up to the standard; but when you get it, it means something.)

Come to the City—Business is done today at short range. It is announced in Odessa, according to a dispatch from that city, that the Russian Government intends to take over practically the whole private quay property at Sebastopol, with a view to converting the port into a naval harbor.

The work of dismantling the Independence preparatory to breaking her up has begun. The members of the crew are at work removing the rigging and sails, and unless Lawson changes his mind very soon, the boat on which he spent more than a quarter of a million will be demolished.

The Society of Merchants and Industrials of Berlin has addressed a circular to exporters, advising them when protesting against United States customs decisions, to give the fullest possible information regarding each case, thereby rendering a thorough investigation by the United States possible.

A Consular report of the trade with Japan says that in 1883 more than half of the Japanese imports were from Great Britain; in 1890, one-third were British; in 1898 less than one-fourth; in 1899, a little more than one-fifth, and in 1900, one-fourth. While the trade of the United Kingdom since 1883 has increased less than one and one-half fold, that of the United States and that of Germany has each grown tenfold and the most strenuous efforts are being made by the last named two countries for trade extensions in the future.

It is said that the German school ships in South American waters will soon be re-enforced. The frigate Stein will sail from the island of Madeira to Port of Spain, island of Trinidad. She will then touch at Carupano and La Guayra, Venezuela, and Colon, Colombia. At the beginning of November the schoolship Moltke will reach Rio Janeiro and will then go to Veneeuzelan waters. These are antiquated vessels which are used as training ships.

Application was made before Justice Herrick, in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, the other day, for the dissolution of the National Gramophone Company and the appointment of a temporary receiver on the ground that the corporation is insolvent. Counsel for the petitioners said that in order to save the concern from total wreck the immediate appointment of a receiver was necessary. Justice Herrick finally decided he would grant the motion for dissolution and the appointment of a receiver and gave counsel a few days to agree upon a receiver whose name could then be submitted.

Following upon the announcement made some time ago of a plan in embryo at the Navy Department to send Admiral Dewey with a fine fleet to England to represent the United States Navy at the exercises which will mark the coronation of King Edward VII, a sequential suggestion has been agitated in naval circles, by way of completing arrangements, to have the Admiral on that occasion fly his flag again above the Olympia, the ship which led his fleet into Manila bay. The Olympia is in excellent condition and well adapted for the purpose.

RETIRED ON HIS MILLIONS.

Report That M. Felix is Bankrupt Without Foundation.

New York.—A cable to the Herald from Paris says: A New York paper announced some time ago that Felix, the great Paris costumer, had closed his doors in bankruptcy. As a matter of fact M. Felix had retired from business after amassing a large fortune. He is now enjoying a well-earned rest in his chateau near Melun and intends shortly to write his memoirs. He devotes much time to charitable undertakings he has founded to assist poor seamstresses. One of these is patronized by the municipality of Paris, which allots to it $2000 annually.

Felix has this to say: "The report in question refers to me as being in bankruptcy and says that the lavish outlay in the Palais de Costumes is the cause. This is absolutely untrue. My fortune amounts to 50,000,000 francs. The Palais de Costumes represented an investment of 2,000,000 francs. Of this sum I only held eight shares, amounting in all to 25,000 francs. The remainder of the shares of capital was subscribed by friends and customers of our firm."

Lipton Has Nothing to Say.

New York.—When Sir Thomas Lipton was told that the Columbia had been officially selected to defend the America's cup, he said: "I am sure they have made a proper selection, for I know their judgment is correct. All I want is to sail the Shamrock against the fastest boat in America, and if it is the Columbia we are all ready. I am glad the decision has been made." The members of the Shamrock's crew are jubilant over the selection of the Columbia. They have not much to say, but it is plain that they feel much encouraged at the prospect of meeting the old defender of 1899, for they do not believe she has improved enough to beat the Shamrock II in any kind of weather. They argue that their yacht was designed to beat one ten minutes faster than the Columbia, and so they can surely beat her with the Shamrock II, as she is now in perfect racing form.

SAYS HE WAS TORTURED.

Naturalized American to Claim Damages From the Republic of Venezuela.

New York.—Hippolyte Lambert, a naturalized American, who says he for years has been traveling through South America organizing socialistic clubs, returned on the Clyde line steamship New York. Lambert told a story of alleged cruel treatment by Venezuelans and says his case will be brought to the attention of the State Department at Washington.

According to his story Lambert arrived at Caracas on May 20th last and registered at the United States Consulate. On July 15th he obtained employment in a private family at Caracas as a cook. On the day following he was arrested by a squad of police. He protested that he was guilty of no wrong, but was locked up and his effects were seized. Among them, he says, were the notes he had made for years concerning socialism and the condition of workingmen in the different countries he had visited. The police also found a copy of a French newspaper, La Libre Parole, which is an organ of the Socialists, and two photographs. One of these was the Hotel la Richie Lambert, which Lambert said, he had once owned in Guatemala, and the other was a portrait of Zelanger, the man who killed President Barrios during the revolution. Other papers showed that he had been mixed up in the revoluton in Salvador and Guatemala, but he said that was as far back as 1877, before he became an American citizen.

Continuing, Lambert said the discovery of these papers made the Venezuelans very bitter against him and he was thrown into a dungeon. He charges that his captors beat him and that he was strung up. On another occasion, he asserts, he was doubled up like a jacknife by his guards, a wooden stave was placed on his knees and his arms were bound to the projecting ends. He was kept in this position, with ten rifles lying across his back, until he became unconcious. He was afterward taken sick with fever, and on July 22d was released and placed on board a steamer for Santo Domingo, from which place he arrived here.

HOP CROP IN DANGER.

Scarcity of Pickers Forces Rounding Up of Indians.

Tacoma, Wash. — Owing to the warmth of the sun, the dryness of the season and the resultant rapid development and ripening of hops east of the Cascade mountains, the North Yakima hop growers are beginning to be apprehensive that there will not be a sufficient number of pickers to harvest the crop. A similar situation prevails in the hop-growing valleys of Western Washington.

Labor and employment bureaus of Tacoma and Seattle are doing everything possible to assemble and forward pickers, but their efforts are not as successful this year as in previous seasons when work in the factories and canneries was not as plentiful as now. In this emergency the Indians of British Columbia, Washington, Idaho and Oregon are being called out in greater numbers than for many years past. Altogether over a thousand Siwashes have been hired by couriers sent among them by the associated hop growers.

Three hundred sound Indians, including three score from across the British line, have arrived here and at Seattle and will start for Puyallup and the White river valley hop fields. Yakima valley growers are depending largely on help from Yakima, Spokane, Nez Perce and Umatilla, Or., Indians.

SMALL FALLING OFF IN NUMBER

Stanford Registration Shows a Decrease of Only Seventy-five Students.

Stanford University. — Summaries compiled at the close of the last day's registration show that the total number of students now in the college is 1026, a decrease of seventy-five from last years' total of 1101. Of this number 760 are old students, a falling off of sixteen, while the defection in new students is fifty-nine, there being 266 against 325 for the same period of last year.

As was apprehended, the percentage of non-residents of California is materially less than a year ago. About one-third of the total came from other states and countries, while at present, all students who could have availed themselves of the new regulation exempting Californians from the ten-dollar fee, and all but ninety have become citizens of the State. The delegations of new students from outside points is as large as ever, eighty-eight of the 266 being non-Californians, or nearly 34 per cent. Revision and the arrivals are likely to bring the total list somewhat higher than here stated but the percentage can change but little.

Owing to the trouble encountered in determining just who are and who are not bona fide Californians, and to the fact that the total revenue from this source is now ridiculously small, it is probable that another semester will see the entire abolition of the registration fee.

Census Figures on Cotton.

Washington.—The Census Bureau has issued a preliminary statement of its ascertainment of the cotton production of 1900, and also gave a statement comparing the production of that year with the production of 1899. The statement shows that in 1900 there were produced 10,486,179 commercial bales, as against 9,645,974 commercial bales in 1899. Indian Territory produced 288,114 bales against 160,324 in 1899. Oklahoma produced 288,114 bales, against 160,324 in 1899. Oklahoma produced 116,876 bales, against 84,035. Utah produced thirty-one bales.

HANNA'S OPINION.

He Thinks It Was Part of a Great Conspiracy.

DISCOVERY BY THE SECRET SERVICE.

Gigantic Anarchistic Plot to "Remove" Half a Dozen Heads of Nations, Among Them Pres. McKinley.

Buffalo.—Senator Hanna firmly believes that the attempted assassination of President McKinley was part of a gigantic anarchistic plot to "remove" half a dozen heads of nations. In this connection he makes some startling disclosures.

Two years ago the Secret Service discovered the evidence of a plot among the Paterson, N. J., group of anarchists to take the life of President McKinley. Investigation followed. At first the results were rather indefinite and inconclusive, and the Secret Service withdrew its men. But one of the agents who had been employed in the investigation, an exceedingly able detective who speaks Italian, made further inquiries upon his own account. He made a report to Senator Hanna and the report was of a most startling nature. It was to the effect that the Prince of Wales (now King Edward), King Humbert of Italy, President McKinley, Emperor William and the Czar were to be assassinated.

This alleged programme of the Paterson group of anarchists was taken to the White House and shown to President McKinley, but Mr. McKinley gave it no credence. He refused to believe that anyone could wish to "remove" him. This report was filed away in Washington. There is intense curiosity to learn if the Italian detective who prepared it, and who seemed to have an abundance of evidence and circumstantiality on which to base his statements, knew or heard anything of this Polish anarchist who shot the President.

"I am firmly convinced that there was a plot to destroy the President," said Senator Hanna. "It will be noticed that of the six heads of states who were down on the Paterson programme one, King Humbert, has been killed by anarchist assassins. Attempts have been made upon the lives of three more—President McKinley, Emperor William and the Prince of Wales. Admitting that the attack upon the Kaiser was not made by an anarchist, the coincidence is still startlingly striking. If that detective was correct in his diagnosis of the situation in anarchistic circles two years ago, it must be admitted that they have stuck pretty close to their programme.

"I have no doubt that Czolgosz was in the plot. We cannot believe that he was smart enough to plan this thing all by himself. Of course, he denies that he had accomplices, but the probabilities are that he lied like a horsethief. It took more than that head of his to scheme out all the elaborate plans of this crime.

"He admits that he was inspired by Emma Goldman. It is known that Czolgosz had relations with anarchistic leaders in Chicago and elsewhere. He is not a degenerate or morally irresponsible. He is an anarchist, and we propose to run to earth every man or woman that had anything to do with the crime or plotting of it.

"The wretch's own father says he ought to be hanged. Anarchism and assassination are getting to be the curse of the world, and it is high time all civilized nations were uniting to stamp them out."

Members of the Cabinet discussed steps which may be taken to prevent the recurrence of these dreadful tragedies. Action of the most decisive character was decided upon. Attorney-General Knox will draft a law, which will be presented to Congress next winter, giving Federal jurisdiction over assaults upon the head of the State, no matter where committed. This will not be exactly a statute of majesty, but it will be a republican counterpart thereof in so far as our Constitution and form of government will admit.

It is believed by members of the Cabinet and their advisers that public opinion will sanction such a law, with the extremest penalties which can be inflicted without violation of the Constitution. Something must be done. Every one wants to put a stop to these assassinations and attempted assassinations of our Presidents. Thrice in a little more than a third of a century has a President of the United States fallen with an assassin's bullet in his body.

It is not generally known that President Cleveland's life was once attempted by a miscreant in New York. A pistol was aimed at Mr. Cleveland on the steps of his house in Madison avenue, but Mr. Cleveland himself knocked the would-be assassin over before the shot was fired. The man was insane and was taken to an asylum without publicity.

Cow in Fly Time.

Here is something that should be preserved by every reader that owns cows, especially, and good for other cattle also in fly time. The Country Gentleman gives it from its veterinary editor, who says it is a cheap, reliable remedy used on his cows for years, and found to be lasting in results, easily used, and such a comfort to animals that they could stand and be milked in the field, if necessary: Pine tar, one pound; lard, six pounds. Melt the lard and stir in the pine tar. Keep an old sponge in the pail, and smear a little on back of cow's head along spine and on brisket twice a week, or when necessary.

Arrange the winter quarters in good season warm, dry and convenient.

FRIDAY. - - - SEPT 13, 1901

We are sorry to state the latest dispatches confirm the report that the President is in a dying condition. His family and the members of this Cabinet who were not already in Buffalo have been telegraphed for and his death is expected at any momemt It is with great sorrow that the nation learned the sad news as the President was supposed to be rapidly recovering.

The sad intelligence of the attempted assassination of our beloved President filled the civilized world with a sense of horror. Coming as it did so soon after the wanton murder of the King of Italy, it has served to call the attention of the nations to the fact that an element of destruction has been active—an element that should not be harbored by any government and that should be summarily dealt with.

It will be remembered that Bresci, the murderer of Italy's King, was a member of a group of Anarachists whose headquarters are at Patterson, New Jersey. Our fair land has become the refuge of a community of murderous men and women driven out of other lands by the vigilance of their detectives, and by our leniency we have permitted the forces of Anarchism to reside in our mdist, to publish and disseminate their nefarious tenets and to give expression to treasonable sentiments.

The glory of our boasted liberty has been degraded to the level of absolute license; the government, in its paternal desire to welcome all oppressed classes to our shores, to give them homes in our free lands and an opportunity to earn an honest living, has utterly failed to take account of the danger to which the country has been subjected by the presence of a society of men-slayers within its borders.

Anarchism's purpose is to strike a stinging blow at every organized and respectable institution, to bring society down to a common plane on which all classes shall be equal—on which, in fact, the unbridled lusts of vile hordes of foreign assassins may satisfy their criminal ambitions.

To put an end to law, order and government, they seek to take the lives of the rulers of the nations. One after another the Czar of Russia, the President of France, the Empress of Austria, and the King of Italy have been stricken down by these base enemies of good government. And now comes the attempt to take life of one of the noblest sons of our great Republic.

When Anarchism shot William McKinley it sorely wounded the throbbing hearts of seventy million loyal Americans, who have long since learned to honor and love the good and gracious gentleman who stands at the head of our national institutions. From the wounded heart of the nation have ascended many prayers that God would spare the life of our President, and latest reports encourage the hope that the Supreme Ruler of us all will grant an answer to our earnest supplications.

May William McKinley be spared to us to rule this land in peace, love and unity; and may a resolute national will set in motion an undivided purpose to stamp out once and for all the evil of Anarchism, which has become such a menace to the country's happiness. Unquestionably we have learned from the sufferings of the President, the much needed lesson that it is possible to be too lenient with the forces of social revolution.

THE PRUNE SITUATION.

Director Woolsey Speaks of the Association's Future Plan.

In conversation with Director W. E. Woolsey on last Thursday, it was learned that before the California Packers' company sought to abrogate its contract with the association they had secured about fifty per cent of the coming crop of the state by contract. Many growers who were members of the associatior were also induced to agree to deliver crop which was maturing to the packers, and had tho packers been successful in abrogating their contract with the association previous to the maturing of the present crop it would have been more pleasing to them.

The efforts of the packers' association has been directed toward breaking up the growers' association. The latter has refused to allow the former to violate its agreement, and has demanded that the fruit be turned into the association. They have notified the members of tne association that they will provide suitable packing facilities immediately for all fruit belonging to members of the association and will designate the packing houses to which fruit can be delivered in different localities and have advised the growers not to deliver their fruit in accordance with any agreement recently entered into with the packers' association, as their original agreement covered a period of two years, and are still in force and effect. Barring the complications that have arisen with the packers, Mr. Woolsey believes that this year would have given the association a good chance to test their organization, and he thinks that with a fair test the growers of prunes would have been a unit in favor of the organization.

A circular of considerable length has been sent out from headquarters recently in which are stated the agreements of the growers with the association, and what each contract calls for.

The circular throughly explains what the association has done and what it expects to do. All of the members of the board of directors signed the statement concerned in the circular.

The association has instructed Mr. Woolsey to promptly arrange facilities for receiving fruit in this district, and he will be in a position to store the same as it is tendered. The life of the association practically hangs on the legal opinion which is expected soon in the Ainsworth case, but the growers are advised that they are placing themselves in jeopard should they dispose of their fruit to any one outside the association.

THEY MAKE DENIAL.

Four interesting documents were filed yesterday in the Superior Court containing allegations of a sensatioual nature involving the claims made by Mrs. Virginia Lauenstein, nee Hutchings, who came forward when old Albert Taner, the Rincon valley winemaker, shuffied off this mortal coil, and proclaimed to the world that she was the daughter and sole heir to his $35,000 estate. After a vigorous contest as to who should be appointed administrator on the estate, Public Administrator Pierce gained the day and the alleged daughter retired however, that when the time came for a partial distribution that she would be heard from again. This was many months ago and at the proper time this woman bobbed up again with a petition that the estate be partially distributed to her as Tanzer's daughter. The documents filed Tuesday are the answers of the other heirs, who pretty strongly set forth that Mrs. Lauenstein is not a daughter or heir of any kind of Tanzer's; that the old man never had a wife or daughter, and they asked the court to so decree and that her petition be denied.

The heirs, whose answers came to the front in the documents filed Tuesday, are Karl Winterkorn, husband of the deceased Therese Winterkorn, nee Tanzer, a sister of the late Albert Tanzer, and his children, Christine Bieling and Karl Winterkorn; Whilhemina Schickodonze, only child of Caroline W. Denzer, a sister of Albert Tanzer, deceased; Henriette Hoffmann, who alleges that she is a sister of the late Albert Tanzer, and August Tanzer, a brother of the deceased. Lent & Humphreys of San Francisco, are the attorneys for the above named heirs. Lippitt & Lippitt being counsel for Wilhemina Schickadonze.—Democrat.

MORALIZINGS.

By Ancient Philosopher.

The daily press keeps us informed as to the turbulant conditions which the struggle between capital and labor has imposed on unwilling communities. What a pity it is that these warring elements of our social fabric cannot meet on common ground and amicably adjust their differences. It is as clear as the noonday sun that this unsatisfactory state of affairs is due to the widespread latter-day rejection of the Golden Rule. People are to-day essentially selfish. Avarice is the demon and money is the god which are actuating our time and generation. "Do others or they will do you" is the rule of life which guides far too many. The thought of doing unto others as ye would they should do unto you is as remote from the heart of the commercial and industrial world as the East is from the West.

Our country needs some new laws—laws that will in a measure control and regulate the relations existing between capital and labor. The latter should unquestionably receive a just remuneration for brawn and muscle expended, and the working man should be raised above the level of a machine. He has a heart and an intellect. He has a soul. He generally has a family to support. He is therefore worthy of the full consideration to which the spirit of true manhood entitles him.

But there are grievances on the side. Contracts are entered into between employe and employer only to be broken whensoever the labor unions order a "walk-out." Then the vexed question arises, "Has the employer a right to engage non union men?" This is a free country; every man has an inviolable right to engage and pay wages to all those men who are willing to give their labor in exchange for a stated wage. Ergo, those who have gone out on strike are palpably wrong when they intimidate those who have filled the places which they themselves deserted. In some countries intimidation is a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment in the common jail. This law tends to conserve the rights of the employer and to restrain the striker from acts of violence.

Now, it is an axiom that two wrongs do not make a right. If capital errs in paying starvation wages and in failing to recognize its full obligation to the men who, to a great extent, create its income. Labor is likewise in error in seeking to enforce its claims by extreme measures, which result in such widespread injury, ofttimes to unoffending parties, to say nothing of the numerous families dependent upon them. More anon.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she would die from pneumonia before morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attenued her that fearful night, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and cured her of consumption. After taking she slept all night. Further use entirely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $. Trial bottles free at all druggists.

Getting Ready for the Fair.

All is progressing favorably with the arrangements for the big district and street fair which opens in Santa Rosa on Monday, September 23.

Wednesday afternoon the directors met at the headquarters on Fourth street and some very satisfactory reports were made. Henry C. Hahman and Frank W. Brown were appointed to collect the cash for the subscriptions promised. Everybody is taking considerable interest all over the district in the coming fair and a large attendance is assured.

Mrs. Charles A. Wright, chairman of the art and fancy work exhibit committee, on Wednesday received a request for twenty feet of space for the art exhibit that will be the pride of the ladies of Cloverdale in Ridgway hall. The lady members of the committee in the Orange City are working nobly to make their exhibit a noteworthy one. A feature of interest will be the exhibit of school work, and already a number of districts have applied for space. Mrs. Wright has received a stack of letters from intending exhibitors. On Saturday morning and afternoon the space in the hall will be allotted.

The grounds for the stock on fifth street is being made ready. Director Muther has this in charge. The work of preparing the streamers and flags for the street decorations will begin in a day or two.

Entries are coming in fast now and the space will be well taken up in the big pavilion with attractive displays. The Granges of the country are viewing with each other and the Horticultural Society and Board of Trade will also be heard from. Any information will be furnished by Secretary Lemmon or Assistant Secretary Barnett at the fair headquarters or by any of the directors.

Napa's Experience in Resistant's.

The question of resistant vines and the best stock adapted to our soil is one of intrest to our vine yardists. Mr Bismark Bruck of St. Helena in an artical in the Star, giving his observation of a tour through a portiton of this country says;

The vineyardists in Sonoma are apparently making the same mistakes now that were made in this valley planting out resistant vines indiscriminately, without any regard for the disposition of the different stock upon the soil which they are particularly adapted to. At this time when the old vines are still bearing paying crops I think it would be advisable for the Sonoma county vineyardists to try the diffrent soils and in different localities and discover for themselves which is the one best suited for al particular soil and loclality. This would obviate the mistakes made in this valley in past years, which resulted in an enormous waste of money and time. Our experince I think should be a lesson and others ought to benfit by it. Our experience has also shown us that the Riparia will succeed only upon cool, moist, rich, loose soil, and the Lenoir on only very fertile or heavy wet clay and the Rupestris St. George on most soils, and is the only one that will flourish in dry hot localties.

LITTLE BOY BADLY HURT.

Arthur, the little son of Mrs. Sophia Carmer, met with a very painful accident while playing on the grounds of the Grammar School. Wednesday morning. It appears the boys were hoisting each other up and down on the horizontal bars by means of a rope tied aronnd the chest, and apparently enj ye l the sport very much. Little Arthur was asked to join in the sport and was being pulled up to the bar by some of the boys, when some one gave the rope an extra hard pull. The sudden jerk pulled the little fellow up and over the bar and he fell to the ground, striking heavily on his face. Principal Hocker bathed his face and sent him to his home in a carriage. Dr. Walliser was called in, but the boy's face had swollen to such an extent that it was impossible to ascertain the extent or his injuries. Means were used to reduce the swelling and Thursday evening we learned from Dr. Walliser that there had been a slight concussion of the brain and contusions of the nose, eyes and chin and that the teeth had been loosened. The little fellow is doing as well as could be expected and it is sincerely hoped that nothing serious will result.

THE TOWN TAX LEVY.

The Board of Trustees Met Tuesday Morning and Fixed the Tax Rate for the Fiscal Year.

The Board of Trustees met at the City Hall, Tuesday morning in special session and fixed the tax levy for the fiscal year at 75 cents on each $100 worth of property.

The board agreed that 30 cents of the levy should be used as a general fund.

Ten cents on $100 is to used to purchase a sprinkling wagon for the town. It is the opinion of the board that better and cheaper sprinkling could be had if the town owned an up-to date sprinkler and let it out to the successful bidder for the work

Thirty-five cents on each $100 is to be set aside to be used in building a new city hall. It is the purpose of of the board to have a fine two story, stone building erected. The lower part of the building will be used by fire department. The upper story will be made into two rooms. One room will be used for the Justice court and board meetings, etc., and the other room will be reserved until a free public library can be started.

There is already a surplus of $700 in the city treasury which will be applied on the building fund.

The Swiss Celebration.

We have been asked repeatedly lately by a number of our subscribers why we did not give more notice to the Swiss celebration which is to be held in Sonoma on Sunday, September 22nd. The fact is we are always anxious to print the news when it is obtainable, but the details of the Swiss celebration were harder to get than an acknowledged engagement from a reigning belle. We have been after the details of the celebration since the first meeting of the committee, but could not get satisfactory information from the committeeman to whom we were referred. Evasive answers were given to all questions asked and there seemed to be no desire to give publicity to the arrangements of the committee. The posters announcing the details of the celebration are now hung in public places and from them we glean the following information.

The High School grounds have been secured and the exercises of the day will be held there.

Hon. E. B. Martinelli, of San Rafael and Dr. J. H. Sarrori, of San Francisco, have been selected as speakers.

There will be a grand parade which will start from the depot upon the arrival of the morning train of the California Northwestern. The line of march will be around the Plaza and thence down Broadway to the school grounds.

Represented in the parade among other things will be the twenty-two Cantons of Switzerland, Wm. Tell and son, Grudli, and Uncle Sam. The parade will be headed by a fine brass band of fifteen pieces.

The day will conclude with a grand ball in the evening at Union Hall. Mr. Tony Kiser will be floor manager. Admission $1 for gentleman and ladies.

The free use of our columns is open to the committee for any further announcements that may be required for the furtherance of the celebration, but we must confess we do not enjoy rehashing information from a poster.

The Eldredge Bicycle is Always Ahead

Five years written guarantee for bearings and sprockets on every first class Eldredge Wheel including the wheels already in use.

C. W. Miller, the world's champion for six day races, keeps the world's championship on an Eldredge since 1897. He broke his own record three times on an Eldredge. Now the Eldredge is only the second year on the coast and Mr. E. B Wastie of San Jose broke the coast record for 10 miles on the 1901 Eldredge Racer on May 19th at the Hayward course, making the distance in 21 minutes and 54 seconds. I invite every bicycle rider to inspect the World's Champion's Eldredge bicycle which he rode in all the six day single races and on which he made 36,000 miles. What other wheel would stand the test? We think none, if we may use the expression, even if they have been running for 6 or 7 years, and the same wheel is fit for another 36,00 as it is in perfectly good running order. Look at Eldredge quality before you conteut yourself with less. The Eldredge is not controled by the Trust.

SHE WAS BLIND.

A blindness comes to me now and then. I have it now. It is queer—I can see your eyes but not your nose. I can't read because some of the letters are blurred; dark spots cover them; it is very uncomfortable.

I know all about it; it's DYSPEPSIA. Take one of these; it will cure you in ten minutes.

What is it?

Mrs. Frank Carter,
3 Merrill Street, Amesbury, Mass.

This letter should carry Faith and Conviction to the Hearts of all Sick Women.

"I suffered with inflammation and falling of the womb and other disagreeable female weaknesses. I had bad spells every two weeks that would last from eight to ten days and would have to go to bed. I also had headache and backache most of the time and such bearing down pains I could hardly walk across the room at times. I doctored nearly all the time for about two years and seemed to grow worse all the time until last September I was obliged to take my bed, and the doctors thought an operation was the only thing that would help me, but this I refused to have done.

"Then a friend advised me to try the Pinkham medicine, which I did, and after using the first bottle I began to improve. I took in all five bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Purifier, four boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Dry Form Compound, three boxes of Liver Pills and used three packages of Sanative Wash, and I am as well now as I ever was. I am more than thankful every day for my cure."—Mrs. Frank Carter, 3 Merrill St., Amesbury, Mass.

An Ant For a Pet.

One of the queerest little pets ever seen is the tame ant belonging to a well known scientist. This man keeps tribes of ants in nests which he has made himself and feeds them with honey or sugar through a tube that connects with the nests. One day he saw that one of the ants kept coming into the tube to eat up the honey in the glass bulb at the end. When he took out the cork that closed the bulb, the insect came to look for the food, and he offered it some honey on the point of a needle, says the New York Tribune.

The ant shrank back at first, then drew nearer, feeling about with its antennæ, until it reached the needle. Soon it learned to take the honey off its keeper's finger, although ants are among the most timid of living things, and a new odor or the least movement outside their nests usually drives these little insects away.

This ant is now so tame that it quits the bulb as soon as the cork is removed and goes to find the honey on the scientist's finger. When its meal is over, it does not try to hurry away, but waits till its master lifts it on a bristle and carries it back to its nest.

Consolation and Comfort.

Who is it that does not wish to be out in the open air or alive in some field of sport, whether it be with the bat, rod or gun; whether we go coasting over the hills and vales on the wheel or sailing over rough waves or into serene coves, it is all sport, and the springing muscles seem to need it. It is bound to happen that some mishap will occur. Thus it is that we have sprains in abundance. Light sprains, sprains that cripple, sprains that give great pain, sprains that rob us of sleep, but sportsmen of all kinds have come to know that there is nothing better than the old reliable St. Jacobs Oil. Have it with you for use; you may rely on its cure of the worst sprain and restoration to the comforts of life.

WHAT CAUSES DANDRUFF.

Greatest European Authority on Skin Diseases Says It's a Germ.

The old idea was that dandruff is scales of skin thrown off, through a feverish condition of the scalp. Prof. Unna, Hamburg, Germany, European authority on skin diseases, says dandruff is a germ disease. The germ burrows under the scalp, throwing up little scales of cuticle, and sapping the vitality of the hair at the root. The only hair preparation that kills dandruff germs is Newbro's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause, your remove the effect." Not only cures dandruff, but stops falling hair and causes a luxuriant growth. Delightful hair dressing.

Stock Market Tips.

Does it ever occur to those who follow journalistic tips on the stock market that they are written by men who find it worth their while to follow an arduous and moderately remunerated profession and that therefore the tipster obviously cannot trust to his tips for a livelihood?

Is it conceivable that any one whose judgment of the movements of securities was sufficiently trustworthy to make even the majority of his shots bullseyes would waste his time by compiling paragraphs for newspapers? Would he not rather spend half an hour or so in the morning at the end of a telephone instructing his broker to buy and sell and devote the rest of his day to the graceful consumption of the boundless fortune that his knowledge and acumen would, ex hypothesi, inevitably provide?

And tips from stockbrokers come under the same suspicion, for it is not reasonable to suppose that one who really had tips worth following in his possession would utilize them as baits for clients who reward his efforts with a beggarly half crown per cent.—Cornhill.

Nuts as Food.

Nuts contain a large amount of nourishment, and owing to their oily nature digest easily. Eaten with salt they are palatable. Either as a dessert course or salted and used as a relish their value is the same. They are not expensive, for from the peanut through the imported varieties they can be bought in bulk at small cost.

The peanut has many good qualities to recommend it, and from its low estate is coming to the front as an important item in dietetics. It is supposed to cure insomnia if eaten just before retiring. Salted, they are much cheaper than almonds. The small hickory nut, at a few cents a quart, can be used on the most economical table. The English walnut makes a very good salad blanched and used with celery. Filberts, almonds and Brazil nuts are more expensive, but as only a few are needed at a time the cost is not great.—Woman's Home Companion.

Religion Losing Ground.

The country is becoming agitated over the statement that religion is losing ground. This results in countless discussions until the agitation runs its course, and still religion flourishes. It is only useless things that deteriorate. The finest recommendation of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the great stomach strengthener, lies in the fact that it has lived for fifty years in spite of hundreds of imitations, and is renowned for its cure of dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, nervousness and malaria, fever and ague.

If you can't say anything good of a man you can at least have the courtesy to sit around and hear other people say bad things.

What are Humors?

They are vitiated or morbid fluids coursing the veins and affecting the tissues. They are commonly due to defective digestion but are sometimes inherited.

How do they manifest themselves?

In many forms of cutaneous eruption, salt rheum or eczema, pimples and boils, and in weakness, languor, general debility.

How are they expelled? By

which also builds up the system that has suffered from them.

It is the best medicine for all humors.

Sure of a Visit.

As a rule, said a prison warden, a man is in a despondent mood during his first week's imprisonment. There are exceptions, however, as this incident will show.

One Saturday about dinner time I was suddenly accosted by one of the new arrivals who had served the first week of his sentence.

"I say," he remarked, "has a lady been asking for me at the gate?"

I told him that if he had been wanted the governor would have sent for him.

"Oh, very well. Keep cool," he said. "This is the first time for ten years I've put in a full week's work, and the old woman is sure to be at the gate for my wages."

And with a grin the cheerful one passed on.—London Answers.

A Little Too Faithful.

A thief in Paris, being chased by the police, threw away during his flight the purse he had stolen and was in a fair way, after being taken to the police station, of being allowed to go free for lack of sufficient evidence to hold him when his faithful dog, which he had trained to fetch and carry, trotted into the station, wagging its tail, with the missing purse in its mouth.—Paris Journal.

The Gentleman's Psalm.

A reader of the Scriptures emphasizes the Fifteenth Psalm as the gentleman's psalm because it describes as among the many who are entitled to be considered as gentlemen "one who leadeth an incorrupt life, speaketh truth from his heart, doeth no evil to his neighbor, is lowly in his own eyes, keepeth his word even if it be to his own hindrance."

Poisoned by Absorption

POISON OAK, POISON IVY, BARBER'S ITCH, LEAD AND BRASS POISONING, ETC.

Through the pores of the skin many poisons are absorbed into the blood, deranging the circulation and affecting the constitution as quickly and seriously as those generated within the system. Just under the skin are innumerable hair-like blood vessels, and connecting these with the skin are millions of small tubes or glands, through which the poison is conveyed to the blood system. During the spring and summer, while the skin is most active and the pores well open, we are much more liable to be affected by Poison Oak and Ivy and other dangerous plants. Workers in brass, copper, lead and zinc have their health impaired and the blood supply poisoned through the absorption of fine particles of these metals and the acids used in polishing and cleaning them. Inhaling the fumes of lead give painters that pallid, waxy appearance of the skin. Barber's Itch is another disease that reaches the blood through the skin, and is a most obstinate one when it becomes firmly fixed in the system. After the poison has reached the blood and been disseminated throughout the system it is too late to resort to local applications. In many cases the blood is affected simultaneously with the appearance of the rash or eruption on the skin, and all efforts should be directed to the purification and building up of the blood. Ugly eruptions and sores will continue to break out in spite of salves, washes, soaps or other external treatment.

S. S. S. is especially recommended for poisons of this character. So completely does it destroy the effects of the Oak and Ivy that there is no possibility of its reappearance, and it is equally as efficacious in brass or lead poisoning or Barber's Itch; building up and purifying the blood and driving out of the circulation impurities of every kind, and removing every blemish, sore or eruption from the skin. There is no substitute for S. S. S.; it is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known, and the safest and best in all constitutional or blood diseases.

FINE COUNTRY HOME.

W. K. VANDERBILT'S "IDLE HOUR" ON LONG ISLAND.

A Palatial Structure in the English Style on Great South Bay—Some of the Rooms and Their Decorations—Preparing the Grounds.

W. K. Vanderbilt's new country house, Idle Hour, the ground for which was broken last October, is practically completed, only a few minor touches being now lacking.

The new mansion, of which P. H. Hunt has been the architect, is built of alternate tiers of brick and limestone, trimmed with marble, and supported by immense iron and steel beams. To prevent a repetition of the fire which two years ago destroyed the old Idle Hour, while Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt were spending their honeymoon there, as little wood as possible has been used in the construction of the new house.

The new Idle Hour has, besides the basement, three floors. The ground plan is L-shaped, with a frontage on Great River of 180 feet, the wing measuring a hundred feet. In the angle of the building is a court containing conservatories, fountains and stone and marble basins. The other two sides of the court are formed by covered cloisters leading to an elliptical palm garden, built wholly of ornamental steel and glass.

The house is massive in appearance and resembles the typical substantial English manor. There are two entrances on the front, each guarded by two crouching lions in stone. The main entrance opens into a spacious hall lined with pillars, each bearing brackets holding torches for lights. The parlor is in the extreme south of the house, and is finished in white and gold and carpeted in fawn-colored Brussels. The dining-room has a ceiling of heavily quartered paneled oak, hand-carved, and a huge fireplace of variegated marble.

In an alcove above it is a statue of Diana. The chandelier hangs by an immense deer's foot, from which branch out three horns bearing lights. The dining-room table is a low, massive, antique, mahogany piece, supported by hand-carved tiger legs. The chairs are old-fashioned, with high wooden backs. In this room there are also five smaller tables and chairs to match. The side walls of the dining-room represent, in stucco work, studies of Green and Roman types. The library and salon are small rooms.

In the banquet room is a large pipe organ, which may be played by hand or steam. The walls of this room are covered with green tapestry, with a top border of hand-painted arboreal designs. The feature of the reception room is a granite mantelpiece, whose finely chiseled vines and grape clusters are said to have taken five sculptors six months to complete. The table in the billiard room is inlaid with mother of pearl, as are also the cues. On the third floor is a handball court.

Mr. Vanderbilt's suite and the eighteen guest chambers are on the second floor. Each guest chamber has a connecting bath room. The third floor is exclusively for servants, with the exception of a large number of cedar chests for storage. In the basement are the wine cellars, kitchen, pantries, silver safe, men servants' quarters and servants' dining-room. There is a broad terrace before the house, with marble and granite steps leading down into the river. A few feet out from the base of the terrace steps is moored a great floating landing stage.

A steam dredge has been at work for months dredging gravel from the bottom of Great River, which is being used to form a solid bed for the several miles of roads upon the Idle Hour estate. The newly constructed canal, which separates the mansion from the farm section of the estate, has beautifully sodded banks, and is spanned at the many road crossings by pretty bridges. The estate will have one of the finest henneries in the world, including an elaborate incubating department.—New York Sun.

A PRIMEVAL TRIBE.

Queer Race of Indians Recently Discovered in Northwest Mexico.

Carl Lumholtz, the noted explorer, has recently returned from an expedition into the wilds of Northwest Mexico, bringing back a wonderful collection of ceremonial objects, which have just been placed on exhibition on the first floor of the new west wing of the Museum of Natural History.

This material is the work of the Huichol Indians. The area of this race is difficult of access, as they occupy a deep ravine in the Sierra Madre del Norte range, in the State of Jalisco. They are hemmed in by huge mountain walls 8,000 to 10,000 feet in height. Here they have been able to defy all invasion from the outside world, and have expelled the missionaries who came to teach them. No churches or priests are allowed in their country, and they are living in the same grade of culture as when Cortez first put foot on Mexican soil.

Having preserved their ancient customs and beliefs unaffected by white contact, they are more than ordinarily interesting to ethnologists. For the first time their products have now been brought to civilization, and their mythology reported on.

The Huichol number about 4,000. They dress in garments of their own manufacture, decorated with elaborate and artistic designs. The most interesting industry of the people is weaving. The women make belts, sashes and pouches of cotton and wool. The ribbons and sashes are ornamented with odd and beautiful figures, all of which have a symbolic meaning. Dr. Lumholtz's collections among this tribe not only cover the whole range of their industries, but illustrate in a most exhaustive manner the beliefs and ceremonials of the people.

Their country is comparatively arid and their food supply depends largely upon the regularity of the rainfall. For this reason most of their ceremonies are intended to propitiate the gods of rain, and all the objects they use in their ceremonial worship are covered with symbols indicating rain. Most of their gods have control over clouds and rain. In each village there is a large temple around which stand a number of small houses sacred to various deities. In these are deposited the offerings made by the people.

Woven shields are sacrified for good luck. These bear designs of the symbols of the deity to whom they are offered. On others are shown the animals sacrificed to the deity and a pictorial representation of the object of the prayer. A man who prays for the health of his wife will make an offering on which the figure of a woman is represented weaving or painting. When he prays for the welfare of his herds figures of cattle or sheep are represented on his offering, while a woman who prays for skill in any kind of handiwork sacrifices a sample of it.

A symbol of prayer is attached to an arrow. The arrow is frequently stuck into the thatched roof of the temple, and is supposed to take a course toward the deity, carrying the wishes of the supplicant. In the temples are also found chairs in which the god is supposed to sit. Symbols of prayer are often attached to the seats, where they will at once attract the attention of the deity.—New York Herald.

PAN-AMERICAN PEOPLE.

Englishman's Description of Men and Women He Saw at Buffalo.

Two things will probably impress every observant foreigner who comes here. One is the external refinement of the American women whom he will meet (all or nearly all of them, as he would say, provincial). A large proportion are pretty, a few are beautiful, and nine-tenths of them are well dressed without being overdressed. The next thing which will strike the stranger is the surprising sturdiness of the men, their air of alertness, their self-reliance, and also their lamentable lack of polish. We are apt to imagine that all Americans are of the strenuous, wan, excitable, nerve-worn type so commonly met with in Europe. But, as they say, "there are others," millions of others, scattered about the far West and the great middle West, who are not only singularly wide-awake, but also healthy. These, and not the Wall street speculators, or the grasping and "chin-bearded" farmers, are the men who are building up this country, earning the fortunes which go into the pockets of the multi-millionaires, and threatening Europe with the most formidable of trade rivalries. Taken in the mass, they seem poorly educated—far more poorly than the women. Their manners, to a sensitive Frenchman or a cultured Englishman, are the reverse of prepossessing. They are raw, they are ungraceful, they are often awkward. But they are good-tempered, without affectation, and in most practical matters they are unmistakably intelligent.

Women and men alike, whether they be well or ill dressed, poor or prosperous, talk too loudly and in shrill or rasping tones, eloquent of the disdain with which all evidently regard the privacy so dear to English folk. If you were to address any one of them in the conventional phraseology of London "society" it is "dollars to doughnuts" that the answer you would get would be a quick and rather irritating "What's that?" (equivalent to our "Beg pardon?"), or an even more exasperating nasal, long-drawn-out, and wondering "How?" In the eyes of the women there is a rude curiosity, but no speculation. In the eyes of the men there are self-concentration, eagerness and the suggestion of that scheming turn which, in exceptional instances, produce great organizers like Mr. Carnegie, and in the multitude makes business "hustlers."—Buffalo Letter to London Chronicle.

A Boy's Art Critique.

Wise men say there is nothing really new in this world, and perhaps the boy who passed the following criticism upon the drawing abilities of his big sister was an unconscious plagiarist; but, anyway, his verdict amused the sister so much that she tells it occasionally, though the joke is on herself. The young woman has a fondness for executing those works of art which consist in the representation of dead game birds hanging by their heels from a nail on a board, fish on a platter ready for the cook, and fruit grouped on a table around a wine glass. These gems she turned off at the rate of about four a year, and presented them to her friends for their dining-room walls. She had just completed a twin pair for a bride. One represented a mess of lobsters in a nest of salad; the other a basket of peaches, with down on them like plush. She was so pleased with both that she asked her brother if he did not think they were just splendid. It was evident that the youthful critic liked one and not the other. After looking at them a minute or two he said:

"Sis, you're a peach on lobsters, but you're a lobster on peaches."

Surely a Gentleman.

In far-off years Sir Walter Scott visited the first Lord Plunkett, who was then Lord Chancellor of Ireland, and was taken to see the ruins of the Seven Churches of Glendalough, one of the sights of Ireland.

One of the most romantic spots is St. Kevin's Bed, a cave which requires a scramble over the rocks to enter. Sir Walter, in spite of his lameness, penetrated the "shrine," an old peasant woman lending him a willing hand.

On the return the Lord Chancellor asked her if she knew how great a man she had assisted, adding, "He is Sir Walter Scott, the illustrious poet."

"Begorra, your honor," the old woman replied, "he's no poet! He's a gintleman born an' bred—for hasn't he left in me hand a piece of silver?"

Truly, there is more than one way of knowing a man by his works.—Youth's Companion.

The Modern Prize Fight.

"Mr. Fitz-Jeffries," said the reporter, "a cable message from Paris says the champion heavyweight of France wants to fight you."

"Well, if he does," replied the great pugilist, "he'll have to do it in English. I'll be hanged if I'll learn his language."—Philadelphia Press.

CRITICAL PERIODS

In Woman's Life Are Made Dangerous by Pelvic Catarrh.

Mrs. Mathilde Richter.

Mrs. Mathilde Richter, Doniphan, Neb., says:

"I suffered from catarrh for many years, but since I have been taking Peru-na I feel strong and well. I would advise all people to try Pe-ru-na. As I used Pe-ru-na and Man-a-lin while I was passing through the change of life, I am positively convinced your beneficial remedies have relieved me from all my ills."

Pe-ru-na has raised more women from beds of sickness and set them to work again than any other remedy. Pelvic catarrh is the bane of womankind. Pe-ru-na is the bane of catarrh in all forms and stages. Mrs. Col. Hamilton, Columbus, O., says: "I recommend Pe-ru-na to women, believing it to be especially beneficial to them."

Easy Come, Easy Go.

The man who creeps along bent over, with his spinal column feeling in a condition to snap like a pipestem at any minute, would readily give a great deal to get out of his dilemma, and yet this is only the commonest form by which lumbago seizes on and twists out of shape the muscles of the back. This is commonly known as backache, a crick in the back, but by whatever name it may be known, and however bad it may be, 10 minutes' vigorous rubbing with St. Jacobs Oil on the afflicted part will drive out the trouble and completely restore. It is a thing so easily caught, it may be wondered at why there is not more of it, but because it is so easily cured by St. Jacobs Oil may be the very reason that we hear so little of it.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and it when is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Called Lorillard's Bluff.

Heavy bettor as he was, Pierre Lorillard once met his match when he ran up against gray bearded James E. Kelly, who introduced bookmaking into this country. It was nearly a generation ago and at Jerome park. Kelly was laying 2½ to 1 against one of Lorillard's horses in a big stake event. The news went to Mr. Lorillard, seated on his coach on the clubhouse lawn.

"I'll just take a little of the conceit out of that sawed off Irishman," said Lorillard to Wright Sanford, Newbold Morris, John Hunter and a few other congenial spirits. They started for the ring together.

"I'll lay $10,000 on my horse at that price, Kelly," said Mr. Lorillard in his princely fashion, expecting to see Kelly wilt and refuse to take the wager.

"Certainly, Mr. Lorillard." Then turning to his sheet writer, Kelly said: "$25,000 against $10,000, Pierre Lorillard." Quickly he turned to the tobacco magnate with a polite "Much obliged to you, Mr. Lorillard; very much obliged. Would you or your friends care to bet another $10,000 at the same odds? Should be delighted to accommodate you."

"What a nerve!" was all Mr. Lorillard could say as he turned on his heel and walked away.

Jimmy Kelly won the bet, for Lorillard's horse was beaten.—New York Times.

They Weren't Fed.

"Some years ago," said a San Francisco man, "a globe trotting Englishman came into the city by the Golden Gate, and it fell to my lot to entertain him. So one night I took him to dine at the far famed Cliff House. It was a beautiful moonlight night, and from where we sat upon the porch we looked out upon the broad bosom of the Pacific ocean. The moon's light made a path across the waters, and in its center the Seal rocks lay like a black patch. The Englishman inquired what they were and upon my informing him said: 'Bah Jove, are those the Seal rocks of which I have heard? I'd very much like to see the seals. I say, my man,' turning to the waiter, 'caun't I see the seals? Don't you feed them at night?'

"'Oh, yessir,' replied the waiter, who was of Hibernian descent, without blinking an eye. 'At 9 o'clock we always gives them their ham and eggs, sir.'

"The Englishman accepted this surprising piece of information without turning a hair and announced that he would surely be on hand at the time mentioned. He was; but, needless to say, the waiter was not."

THE TRAINED NURSE

An Occupation Which Attracts Many Refined Girls.

Many girls of education and refinement are turning to the profession of trained nurse as a means of livelihood. It is a serious occupation and a responsible one, for the word of an experienced nurse carries great weight in matters relating to her profession. It is this fact that prompted an interesting interview with Miss Kathryn Nash, of North and Plattsburg avenues, Burlington, Vt., published in the News of that city. To a reporter she said:

"I had been caring for a patient steadily for nine months without rest and was run down and tired. I had very little appetite and sometimes I would skip one or two meals and not feel it at all. While visiting in Boston, an abscess formed back of my ear. I had no strength and, although I was always drowsy, sleep did not seem to refresh me. After I came home I had seven abscesses on my back, near the waist line, and was unable to sit up much for three or four months. The doctors who treated me said I had blood-poisoning from which I would never recover."

"That must have been very discouraging," said the reporter.

"It was. It took all the ambition out of me for awhile. But one day, when I was feeling particularly despondent, a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. She was taking them with benefit and thought they might also help me. I bought some at once and before I had used one box of the pills I found I was gaining strentgth. My appetite and digestion improved and I felt rested after sleeping, instead of being tired as I was formerly. I soon became entirely well and able to resume my duties."

"Then you believe the Pink Pills cured you?"
